Lakes Searched for Victims of Storm

WINTRY BLAST BRINGS DEATH TO 88 PERSONS

Sailors and Duck Hunters Have Harrowing Time In Frigid Weather.

59 REPORTED MISSING

Few Sections Escape Force of Abnormally Early Cold Wave.

(By Associated Press)

Searching parties scanned the cold waters of Lake Michigan and frozen marshlands in the Great Lakes region today for additional victims of the violent storm that brought death and destruction to the middle west and frigid weather to the nation

Eighty-eight persons, including two score sailors and duck hunters, were known to have perished Many others were missing and scant hope remained that they would be found alive.

Two freighters were believed to have foundered in Lake Michigan with all hands aboard during the gale that struck on Armistice day and continued into Tuesday. Five vessels were reported aground.

The bodies of 16 sailors were washed ashore near Ludington, Mich. They were identified as those of crew members aboard the William B. Davock, a 7,200-ton freighter, and the Anna C. Minch, a 4,000-ton vessel.

It was feared that the death toll from shipwrecks would exceed 65. In addition to the bodies recovered, 51 other crew members were missing from the Davock and the Minch Eight fishermen aboard the tugs Indian and Richard H. were reported lost.

Twenty-six duck hunters drowned or died in the marshlands during the fierce storm. The death list included 11 in Minnesota, six in Wisconsin, four in Iowa, three in Illinois and two in Ontario.

Excluding drownings in Lake Michigan, the storm death toll was: Minnesota 26, Illinois 10, Wisconsin 9, Iowa 8, Indiana 5, Michigan 4, Colorado 2, South Dakota 2, Ontario 2, and Oklahoma,

Mansfield Chills But Escapes Cold Wave's Full Blast

Despite a chilly 21-degree reading in Mansfield this morning, northcentral Ohio today had apparently escaped the full blast of the cold wave that is sweeping across the northern part of the nation.

The weatherman predicted partly cloudy and continued cold for the state tonight and Thursday, but the mercury is not expected to drop below today's level.

Temperatures in the state this morning ranged from 20 degrees at Toledo to 25 in Cincinnati. All of Ohio escaped the snow that blocked highways in Wisconsin and northern Michigan and the gale that swept the state for two days, causing widespread damage, had abated today.

Yesterday's top reading in Mansfield was 39 degrees and the average for the past 24 hours was 30, or about 12 degrees below normal.

The nation's coldest spot today was Bismarck N. D., where the mercury tumbled to 15 below zero. It was one below zero in Denver, Colo., and five above at Minneapolis.

Another cold blast was headed eastward across the plains states, dropping the mercury to seven above at Amarillo, Texas, and 10 above at Kansas City.

Sea Battle Story Told By Fighters

Rescued Vessel Returns to Save Survivors of Cruiser.

(By Associated Press)

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT — Sixty-five seamen, most of them wounded, were Canada's heroes today—scarred exhausted survivors of the armed merchant cruiser Jervis Bay which saved at least 20 ships of a convoy of 38 before sinking, guns still roaring, in a mid-Atlantic battle with a powerful German raider.

They were brought into port late yesterday by a Swedish freighter, one of the convoy, whose captain, Sven Olander, went back after dark the night of Nov. 5 because "they did so well for us that I did not like to leave."

The identity of the freighter and the number of missing crew members of the 18-year-old, 14,164-ton Australian liner converted into a lightly-armed convoy guardship were kept a military secret Also, the identity of the raider was unknown, but some of the survivors thought possibly she was a 10,000-ton pocket battleship, the Admiral Scheer or the Luetzow.

Survivors of the fight—of which the world had its first inkling last week when distress calls crackled out over the Atlantic—told how the Jervis Bay headed without hesitation into the "hopeless" fight, laid a smoke screen under which the convoy scattered, and plowed through a storm of shells straight for the raider until she was sunk by the latter's power.

Capt. E. S. F. Fegen remained in command "with one arm almost shot away," even though the fore part of the bridge was blown from under him. He went down with the blazing ship.

A British admiralty communique credited the saving of three-fourths of the convoy, which the Germans reported completely destroyed, largely to the "very gallant action" of the Jervis Bay.

Twenty-four ships in the convoy were reported to have reached ports, five others were reported safe and, the admiralty added, "it is possible that some of the

Probe Sabotage Possibility In Powder Plant Explosion

(By Associated Press)

A series of blasts in explosives plants one of which was engaged in defense manufacture—drew investigators' attention today in an attempt to determine whether they were sabotage efforts.

Eight were killed and 26 injured at the plant of the United Railway Signal company plant, Woodbridge, N. J., yesterday. Although there apparently were no indications of sabotage, authorities had not altogether ruled out this possibility. The company makes railroad signal torpedoes and other safety devices.

Three were killed in the plant of the Trojan Powder company, Allentown, Pa., which had army and navy contracts for explosives.

Three more died in the Burton Powder works of the American Cyanamid corporation at Edinburg, Pa., in an explosion of 1,000 pounds of dynamite.

FBI men were investigating at each plant.

All three explosions occurred two months to a day after the mysterious blasts which killed 51 Sept. 12 in the plant of the Hercules Powder company at Kenvil, N. J.

On the heels of the powder plant explosions came reports of other blasts and violent incidents, at least one occurring under mysterious circumstances.

FDR PLEDGES UNITY ABOVE PARTISANSHIP

President Thanks Voters For Congratulations and Answers Willkie.

SHOWS APPRECIATION

Special Staff of Clerks at Work Answering Messages of Well Wishers.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt today gave America a pledge to work for national unity during his third term "shoulder to shoulder with all who place true Americanism above all other considerations"

His statement indicated his determination to rise above partisanship in search for national unity on the principle that only "in union we shall find our true strength."

His pledge was delivered in a statement acknowledging "tens of thousands" of congratulatory telegrams and letters which he received after his election. The letters and telegrams pledging loyalty and support, he said, came from men and women who cast their vote Nov. 5 for Wendell L. Willkie as well as those who voted for the third term.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement followed by two days a post-election address of Willkie to the nation, pledging co-operation for national unity in development of American defense and other essentials, but laying the groundwork for the 22,000,000 people who voted for him to carry on the principles upon which he based his unsuccessful campaign.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early made public Mr. Roosevelt's statement, explaining that the volume of congratulatory expressions made it impossible to acknowledge them all individually, although a special staff of clerks is at work on the messages."

The text of Mr. Roosevelt's statement:

"In the face of a constantly mounting number of congratulatory messages, I feel that I must, in this statement, extend my

Stunning Blow By Royal Navy Fliers Claimed

Two Big Battleships Reported Badly Damaged By Bombs In Attack Upon Taranto Base Armistice Day; Two Aircraft Missing.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (INS) — Britain's naval blockade has been extended to Syria, French West Africa, Liberia, Portuguese Guinea, Madagascar and Reunion Island, the ministry of economic warfare announced today.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—A stunning attack by the British navy's air arm dealt a "crippling blow" to the main units of the Italian naval fleet on the night of Nov. 11-12, the British admiralty announced today.

A communique stated that at least six and possibly seven Italian warships were severely damaged at the Italian naval base of Taranto.

The announcement said that one Italian battleship of the Conte Dicavour class—a 25,000-ton ship with a complement of nearly 2,000 men, was seriously damaged and that a second ship of the same class appeared to have met a similar fate.

In addition, the British statement said, a battleship of the 35,000-ton Littorio class was hit and damaged so severely that her forecastle is under water.

Two Italian cruisers were left listing to starboard as a result of the British attack, the admiralty said, and two Italian fleet auxiliary vessels were left lying with their sterns under water

(The Italian base at Taranto, where the attack was carried out, is situated at the head of the Gulf of Taranto between the heel and toe of the Italian "boot")

The admiralty's communique announcing the devastating attack, which put large units of the Italian fleet out of action, stated.

"The Royal navy struck a crippling blow at the Italian navy. On the night of Nov. 11-12, the fleet air arm carried out an attack the results of which have now been established by photographic reconnaissance.

"The main units of the Italian fleet were lying snugly behind their shore defenses at the main Italian base of Taranto.

"It is now known that one battleship of the Littorio class is so badly down by the bows that the forecastle is under water. She has a heavy list to starboard.

"One battleship of the Cavour class is beached with the stern, up to and including the after turret under water. This ship is heavily listed to starboard.

"It is not yet possible to establish the fact as a certainty, but it appears probable that a second battleship of the Cavour class also was severely damaged.

"In the inner harbor two cruisers are listed to starboard and surrounded with fuel oil. Two fleet auxiliary vessels are lying with their sterns under water.

"Total strength of the Italian battle fleet was six battleships, two of the Littorio class, which had just been serviced, and four of the recently constructed Cavour class.

"As a result of the determined and highly successful attack, it is probable that only three Italian battleships now remain effective."

The admiralty communique recalled that the Italian announcement yesterday admitted that one warship had been badly damaged. The British statement added:

"The Italian communique also claimed that six of our aircraft had been shot down and that three more probably had been destroyed

"In point of fact, only two of our aircraft are missing. We have

FRIENDLY: Exchange Toasts On Russo-German Relations

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—Chancellor Hitler entertained Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at luncheon today as the Russian official pressed forward with negotiations aimed at a Berlin-Moscow agreement of worldwide importance.

Announcement that Hitler, Molotov and a small circle of high officials had lunched together was made after the Russian visitor called upon Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of the German air force during the morning, and later was received by Deputy Nazi Leader Rudolf Hess.

While details of the actual points under discussion were kept secret, all signs pointed to negotiations regarding increased Russo-German co-operation

During last night's reception for Molotov at the Kaiserhof hotel it was announced, toasts were exchanged stressing friendly Russo-German relations.

Official circles laid much stress in the importance of this exchange of toasts. It means, qualified sources said, that Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany "have agreed to clasp hands and see eye to eye."

However, the exact form the new agreement will take may await Molotov's return to Moscow for a report to Josef Stalin. The impression was given that the meetings had been a spectacular success and will have tremendous future consequences in establishment of a Eurasian "new order."

During and after luncheon today Hitler and Molotov had a talk

Japs Reported Ready for Attack on Dutch East Indies

TROOPS STAND BY AT PORTS FOR INVASION

Withdrawing From China For New Adventure; Saigon Called Objective.

(By United Press)

SHANGHAI — Reports reached here today that large concentrations of Japanese troops were standing by at Hainan, Haiphong and Kwangchowan awaiting orders to board transports for the south, probably the French Indo-China naval base at Saigon.

There were indications that the Japanese were withdrawing all available troops from China for a new adventure in south Asia, possibly an attempt to take the Dutch East Indies. It was reported that such a move might be timed to coincide with an announcement from Berlin of Russian-Japanese rapprochement.

A large number of Japanese transports were reported waiting off Hainan, an island off the French Indo-China coast; Haiphong, a Japanese-occupied Indo-China port, and Kwangchowan, a French-leased district in China above Hainan. Inspired Japanese reports of the past week indicated that Saignon was the objective. Saignon is on the southern tip of Indo-China, 700 miles from the great naval base at Singapore.

The situation was believed brought to a head by Russian Premier-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's trip to Berlin, where he conferred yesterday with Adolf Hitler. However, it was believed that regardless of whether an announcement came from Berlin, a Russian-Japanese agreement had been reached and that Japan was ready to push south within a week.

Private advices from Bangkok, Thailand (Siam) indicated that large forces of Thailand troops were concentrated on the Indo-China frontier and that they were expected to cross about Dec. 1, possibly in conjunction with Japanese troops operating from Saigon, thereby outflanking Singapore and threatening Burma.

FLEET SAILS

Accept High Bid On Bookkeeping Machine Purchase

City officials today had accepted the highest of three bids submitted on a new bookkeeping machine to be purchased for the water, sewer and garbage department office.

The city accepted the proposal of the Mansfield Typewriter and Office Supply company of $2,175. The contract calls for delivery before Jan. 1, of a specially constructed Remington-Rand machine.

The Mansfield Typewriter bid was $208 higher than the lowest bid of $1,967 submitted by Burroughs Adding Machine company of Canton, and $107 higher than the $2,048 bid by the Charles Ritter company on a Sunstrand-Elliott-Fisher model.

The contract was let yesterday by the board of control which is comprised of Mayor William J. Locke and Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton.

Crafton said the Remington-Rand machine had been selected because of various features preferred by department employes who will use the machine.

City council authorized the purchase two months ago and earmarked $2,500 in water and sewer funds to meet the expense. The old machine now in use in the office will be accepted by the Mansfield Typewriter company for $200, the figure included in the net price submitted.

Luxury Liner Puts To Sea To Become Transport Ship.

OHIO STORAGE TANK EXPLODES

Midnight Blast Shakes Part of Canton and Territory South of City.

(By Associated Press)

CANTON—An oil fire burned itself out today following an explosion of a 10,000 gallon storage tank at the Canton Refining company plant.

The midnight blast shook a large part of Canton and territory south of the city. Several employes were knocked down but none of the 15 on duty was injured.

The top of the reservoir was blown off and about 1,000 gallons of fuel oil burned fiercely. Fire companies played cold water on other nearby tanks which contained gasoline. Chemicals helped confine the fire to the one tank.

Deputy Sheriff R. B. Murphy reported oil workers told him the explosion might have been caused by an air mixture in the tank known as a "flash" and that this might have come from dumping hot oil on cold.

The Canton Refining company was a division of the Alleghany-Arrow Oil company until recently when it became independent. The plant is located a mile and half south of the city in sparsely occupied territory.

Company officials were unable to estimate the damage.

West, who was alone, was driving southwest. Employes at the farm heard the crash and removed him from the wreckage.

MIDLAND, Pa. — (AP) — Nearly all the 1,500 employes of the Crucible Steel company's local mills which had been working 24 hours a day on armament orders for the United States and Great Britain were idle today because of a strike for wage increases.

Walkouts that started Sunday night forced a virtual cessation of work last night. A. L. Sonnhalter, general manager of the plant, said the steel workers organizing committee which has a contract with the company, demanded a pay increase of 12½ cents an hour.

SPRINGFIELD OFFICIALS GROPE FOR CLUE IN DOUBLE SLAYING

SPRINGFIELD—(INS)—Authorities admitted today they were "just groping" for a possible clue that might help them solve the mysterious double-slaying of two workers at the Springfield plant of the National Supply company, which has been turning out material for the federal defense program.

Officials said they were concentrating on the "grudge" motive but were not overlooking the possibility that someone bent on sabotage or robbery may have struck the fatal blows to employes at the factory, in which Diesel engines are made.

"We're just questioning anybody and everybody who is now working or has worked at the plant," Detective Chief Walter L. Sweet said. "We're just groping for a thread that may lead us somewhere. So far we have nothing definite."

Police and plant authorities have been baffled since Jesse Ray, 51, machinist, and Fred A. Frior, 44, night watchman, were bludgeoned to death early Sunday. Employes questioned so far have been unable to shed any light on the murders.

Investigators held to the theory that the murderer intended only to kill Ray, who was struck down while working at his lathe. Police believe the night watchman was slain when he encountered the intruder either entering or leaving the plant.

Police haven't even determined definitely just what weapon was used by the killer, although several pieces of bloodstained pipe have been found.

Coroner Austin Richards is expected to complete his investigation Friday.

NIMRODS READY TO START HUNT AT NOON FRIDAY

Agencies Reporting Rush For Licenses; Health Director Issues Warning.

With rabbit season opening Friday noon, Mansfield and Richland county hunters are busy this week oiling their shot guns and putting their dogs through their final paces in preparation for their annual first-day crack at the "cotton tails."

Although the largest number of hunting licenses are expected to be sold Thursday and Friday, an estimated 2,000 licenses had been purchased by hunters in the city at noon today.

On the basis of the number sold in the Mansfield area last year, those issuing licenses expect the number to exceed 4,000 before Saturday.

Although hunters may begin their search for rabbits and pheasants at noon Friday, nimrods must wait until 6 p. m. before they can shoulder head for their favorite coon hunting grounds.

Hunters throughout the state were warning today of tularemia, commonly known as "rabbit fever."

Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, in describing tularemia today said it is the lone deadly disease which strikes exclusively during hunting season. After long research from 1908 to 1928, it was finally agreed that rabbits carried the disease.

Markwith described symptoms of tularemia as fever, chilling, sweating and headaches. In a great many cases a sore or ulcer marks the place of the infection.

In cautioning hunters, Markwith stated: "The use of rubber gloves in the cleaning of all game is urgent. This coupled with a thorough cleaning of the meat will practically insure safety. Knives and utensils should be thoroughly sterilized since even a tiny drop of the infected blood my prove sufficient to cause serious illness."

Markwith also advised that hunters destroy all sluggish appearing rabbits, refraining from dressing them either for human consumption or for feed for dogs or other domestic animals.

Mansfield Amateurs Face Test Against Clevelanders

Tygers Invade Shelby

Mansfield Out to Mark Up Fifth Grid Victory of Season Saturday.

WITH Bill Doolittle and Jim Tempeton back for regular duty, the Mansfield high Tygers are completing plans today for their invasion of Shelby to clash with the Shelby high Whippets at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Doolittle and Templeton have been out of the lineup for over a week with injuries and their return is expected to bolster the Tyger running attack.

Coach Paul Snyder's proteges are determined to finish the season above the .500 per cent mark and will "shoot the works" against the Whippets.

Shelby, which shares the North Central Ohio conference football championship with Bucyrus and Marion, has dropped only one game this season and Snyder expects trouble.

Mansfield won their first four games of the season and then have dropped four in a row.

The Tygers beat Akron West, 14 to 13; Cambridge, 25 to 0; Elyria, 7 to 6, and New Philadelphia, 7 to 0. The club lost to Sandusky, 32 to 21; Massillon, 58 to 0; Ashland, 7 to 6, and Canton McKinley, 38 to 7.

SUFFER NOSE INJURY

Glover Wins Amateur Match In Cleveland.

Beauford Glover, former Mansfield lightweight, decisioned Francis Mullane of Detroit in an amateur boxing match at the Arena last night in Cleveland. In another bout, Joe Maxin, flashy Cleveland Golden Gloves middleweight champion, lost a close decision to Charley Hayes of Detroit. The fight ended Maxin's simon pure career. He will turn professional shortly, his manager announced after the Arena fight.

As Bradley Named Peck

President Alva Bradley (right) of the Cleveland Indians is pictured with his new manager, Roger Peckinpaugh, whom he unveiled at a luncheon for the press. Peck, a major league player, manager and official for 30 years, once before was manager of the Tribe.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

DALLAS—(UP)—Thank goodness, the Cleveland Indians have named a manager for the 1941 season.

Now there won't be any lack of amusement for the baseball fans during the long winter evenings. They can now start guessing who will manage the Indians in 1942.

I don't like to scoop my fellow reporters but I have a red hot tip on Peckinpaugh's successor. I have learned that the following men are being given serious consideration as the Indian's pilot season after next:

1. Mickey Cochrane, former Detroit manager who is now in the automobile industry, but who is said to yearn for the good old days of second-guessers, fair weather friends, and abrupt dismissals.

* * *

2. Babe Ruth, whose followers still feel he was given a raw deal by baseball.

3. Bucky Harris, manager of Washington, who is said to be determined to get with a ball club which has pitchers with names he can pronounce.

4. The author of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

5. Cy Slapnicka, who has been managing the Indians for years.

6. Alva Bradley, president of the Indians, who is said to want a place on the bench so he can hear player complaints more readily.

7. Oscar Vitt, the manager who was just fired. The report is that the Indians dislike Vitt so much they want to punish him to the utmost, and the best way they can think of to do this is to re-hire him and give him another season on the Cleveland bench.

Now that Peckinpaugh has taken the job for 1941, the country shouldn't wait too long before arranging a national celebration in his honor. He had the job once before—I think he started in 1928 and lasted until he got the pink slip in the middle of the 1933 season—and his willingness to have another try merits a nationwide applause.

The hiring of Peckinpaugh so many months before the start of the 1941 season was a thoughtful act on the part of the Indians' management. Now the members of the team will have time to arrange a fitting reception for him.

They will have most of November, and all of December, January and February to get together such things as parchment for petitions of dismissal, clubrooms in which to hold their sessions of revolt, and knives specially built to fit in the small of the back.

* * *

Yes, the naming of Peckinpaugh in November was a smart move. By this time next year the same folk who hired him probably will be explaining why it was a smart move to fire him.

Four Fight In Show

Carbetta Faces Stephens In Five-Round Bout on Athletic Club Card.

AMATEUR BOXERS from Mansfield will be out to hold their own with Cleveland and Marion mittsters when the Saprano-Doehla Athletic club stages its initial show at the club at 8 p. m. today.

Tonight's program will consist of seven top-notch matches and three preliminary affairs featuring youthful Mansfield talent.

Headlining the card is Paul Carbetta, Mansfield flyweight, who goes after Mike Stephens, 114, of Cleveland in a five-round melee.

Another five-round affray tosses Nate Robinson, 147, of the Mansfield CCC camp, against Harry Moore, Cleveland welterweight. Both are rugged fighters and it should be one of the best bouts on the card.

Five other three-round matches, topped by a match between Joe Sauer, 147, Mansfield, and Dick Turner, 147, Marion, are set for the show.

Mel McKinley, 118, of Mansfield, former Ashland lad, returns to the ring to tangle with Mike Ceffirette, 118, of Cleveland.

In the other matches, Bob Miller, 135, of Loudonville, meets Billy Bush, 135, Cleveland; Ted Workman, 135, Ashland, fights Cooch Carmel, 135, Mansfield and Bob Kemp, 135, Loudonville, squares off with a mittster to be named before the fight.

Play In Cuba

Tribe Scheduled For Exhibition Contest Next Spring.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Proving that appointment of long-faced Roger Peckinpaugh isn't the only new thing in the wigwam, the Cleveland Indians will invade Cuba for three spring training contests.

Cleveland fans can't recall the Indians ever playing outside the United States, but that isn't the only unusual thing to happen.

The signing of Peckinpaugh yesterday assured the 48-year-old former shortstop of term No. 2 as the Indians' pilot. If that isn't unusual, neither was the players' war dance which finally scalped Peckinpaugh's immediate predecessor, Oscar Vitt.

The Indians will start gathering at their Ft Myers, Fla., spring training camp about Feb. 20, says Vice President C. C. Slapnicka. This is about a week earlier than usual, and perhaps is indicative of front office determination for a pennant winner if getting the players into shape can do it.

They go to Cuba March 7 for a series of games with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who have hopes of a pennant in their own National park.

Peckinpaugh, Cleveland boy who managed the Indians two and a half seasons before President Alva Bradley discharged him in 1933, has a bundle of problems but apparently is armed to deal with them.

Due to go to the camp as far as coaching the ball club is concerned Feb. 20 as he announced during Tuesday's meeting of baseball writers, Peckinpaugh is on hand as soon as he can get away from his duties as baseball commissioner of Ohio.

There is no front office strife, and if there was Peckinpaugh is out of the front office. The only time the front office will step into the picture is when he needs assistance and asks for it.

"I think from now on we're going to have good co-operation on the ball club," said the new pilot. "If anything happens it's going to be my fault and you can blame me."

One of his first problems is to determine whether to retain Luke Sewell, Johnny Bassler and Oscar Melillo as coaches. Another is to figure how he can obtain a slugging outfielder through a deal at the winter meetings, or later.

Thomas Gains Draw In Bout

2nd Fighter To Get Draw With Buddy Walker.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 13—(AP)—Thomas, Columbus negro heavyweight, fought Buddy Walker, Columbus negro heavyweight, to a draw in a bitterly contested bout before 3,817 spectators here last night. Thomas matched the ohio title claimant blow for blow and proved his strength and stamina by taking the final round in a decisive manner.

Referee Matt Brock of Cleveland and judges Ted Wiley and Jack Sharkey, both of Columbus, scored the bout 2 to 1 for Walker. Both boys weighed in at 200 pounds.

Walker is being groomed for a fight with Lee Savold, Columbus heavyweight, next spring. Brock is matchmaker at the Columbus Auditorium.

Reds' First Baseman Given Player Award

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK—(AP)— Frank McCormick, sturdy first baseman for the world champion Cincinnati Reds, was the National League's most valuable player in 1940, a committee for the Baseball Writers' Association of America announced today.

* * *

The tall, good-looking youngster from New York, who joined the Reds three years ago and has played in each of their games since, didn't have his best season, but it was a good one, and vital to the Reds.

He hit .309 and drove in 127 runs, as compared with a the 1939 batting average of .322 and 128 runs batted in.

Last year, he was rated fourth in the annual balloting by 24 veteran baseball scribes, three from each National League city. This year he was first, getting 16 of the 24 votes for first place and 274 points, 69 more than Johnny Mize, slugging first sacker of the St. Louis Cardinals, who also was second in 1939.

The reason for the rise of McCormick in contradiction of the figures in the record books is easily apparent. Last year, the Reds captured the pennant on marvelous pitching, but this year their hurling was less effective, and they repeated on tight defensive play and the ability to punch across runs at the right time.

This was where McCormick figured—the best defensive first baseman in the league, second only to Mize in runs batted in, the leader in doubles and tied for the lead in total hits. He gave the Reds their pennant punch.

McCormick was the third consecutive Cincinnati player to be voted the honor, which carries with it an award by the Sporting News. In 1938, Catcher Ernie Lombardi led the league in batting and was named most valuable; last year, Pitcher Bucky Harris led in victories and earned the most valuable designation with 303 points out of a possible 336.

One reason McCormick did not dominate the annual poll this year as Walters did last was the competition of his own teammates. No fewer than five of the Reds received votes. Five others were accorded honorable mention, and in the final compilation of points Walters rated third with 146 and Paul Derringer, fourth with 127.

Mize was the first choice of six of the committeemen, but Lombardi and Derringer each received one first-place vote. A first-place vote meant 11 points; second was good for nine; third for eight, etc., to tenth place, which counted one.

McCormick's votes were distributed as follows: 16 firsts, four seconds, one fourth, one fifth and one tenth. Besides his six first choices, Mize won seven seconds, four thirds, one fourth, one sixth, one seventh and two eighth places.

The balloting produced no parallels.

ROLLS IN FRONT

FLORENCE, Ala.—(AP)—White Fella powerful lemon and white pound caused by J. W. Mizzes of Marshville, N. C., rolled ahead in the National Foodstuffs' association futurity yesterday with a 1.35-point performance in the second test.

Backfield Men Turn In Great Performances

Albert of Stanford and Kimbrough of Texas Aggies Leading List of Ball Packers.

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Putting the finger on last week's outstanding backfield performers, bidding for All-America football recognition:

The lad who makes that dazzling Stanford offense click is Quarterback Frankie Albert, a junior. In the crucial game with Washington, Albert was a standout all the way and rated the orchids he got for the way he loosened up the Huskies' defense, found the weak spots and called the plays that meant the ball-game.

All-America John Kimbrough of Texas A. and M. whose fullback post was endangered by Standlee's brilliant play, poured it on against Southern Methodist. Jarring John was his old unstoppable self against the Mustangs.

Another 1939 All-America, Tommy Harmon of Michigan, was pretty well stopped on the ground by Minnesota's great defense and the slippery going, but he passed and kicked like a champion. He completed nine of 14 passes, including one for a touchdown, and booted at a 43.6-yard clip.

Minnesota's leading ground gainer turned up in Bruce Smith, whose 80-yard touchdown run helped him average 7.5 yards in 15 tries.

Jimmy Nelson, Alabama junior, belongs in the forefront of backfield contenders. After last week's game, Tulane players said Jimmy was the best back they had faced all year, and the Green Wave has faced some good ones, including Charlie O'Rourke of Boston college, Dick McGowen and Lloyd Cheatham of Auburn, Len Eshmont and Steve Filipowicz of Fordham, Jim Lalanne of North Carolina and Ed Maness of Clemson.

Art Jones, Richmond's triple threat, was something of a one-man riot in the upset victory over North Carolina, passing for both Richmond touchdowns and adding the extra points that spelled triumph, 14-13.

Wilberforce Likely To Get Bowl Bid

ATLANTA — (U.P.) —Wilberforce university and Morgan college, each unbeaten and untied, rank as favorites today for invitations to the Peach Blossom and Orange Blossom post-season classics of negro football.

The Peach Blossom game, in its second year, is expected to match the Ohio team with powerful but once-beaten Morris Brown in Atlanta Dec. 6. The seventh renewal of the Orange Blossom game at Orlando, Fla., likely will bring together Morgan and highly-rated Florida Agricultural and Mechanical college of Tallahassee on the same date.

Wilberforce defeated formidable Kentucky State at Frankfort, 13-12 last week and is considered a prohibitive favorite to win its remaining games against West Virginia State college and South Carolina State college of Orangeburg.

STEELS LIMP AS LEADERS FAIL TO GAIN

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Among Group Lacking Support; Bonds Are Irregular.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels continued to limp in today's stock market and many other leaders were unable to put a foot forward.

Lacking rallying animation were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Western Union, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber and Consolidated Edison.

Bonds and commodities were irregular.

Many of their customers, brokers said, inclined to stand aside pending conclusion of the technical "correction" which got under way yesterday.

Helpful marketwise was the statement of federal reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended Nov. 6 disclosing the fifth consecutive weekly upturn in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans.

Followers of the rails noted forecasts of executives that a substantial upswing in traffic was likely in the next six months as armaments spending picks up momentum.

SURVIVORS OF BATTLE SAVED

Tell Story of Nazi Raider's Attack on Ship Convoy In North Atlantic.

Captain Olander said he thought he saw five merchant ships in the convoy struck by shells fired by the raider.

The survivors brought back tales of heroism which ranged from their captain's persistence at his post though severely wounded to an account of a seaman who, when the Jervis Bay's flag was shot away, climbed the rigging amid shellbursts and fastened a new ensign which still waved through clouds as the ship took her last plunge.

"I think everybody aboard was proud as our ship turned to meet the enemy," the officer related. "Our captain knew just what we were going to get, but it didn't matter."

The Jervis Bay was burning and settling rapidly when the order "abandon ship" was given nearly two hours after the battle began, the officer said. He declared the Germans then began to shower the wreck and the escaping crew with shrapnel.

"I've got a scar on my back to show it," he said. "x x x Shells were falling around the ship like raindrops. x x x Almost everyone had some shrapnel wounds x x x."

RUSSIANS BID FOR WORLD'S NICKEL TRADE

New Production Center Near Finnish Border Built By Soviet.

HELSINKI—(U.P.)—While the fate of the Finnish nickel mines is still under consideration, Soviet Russia is speeding the development of her vast nickel deposits 100 miles from the border.

The Russian field was discovered eight years ago. There are tens of thousands of workers in the field now mining and refining the nickel. Early in October a large electrolytic plant was opened at Montschegorsk, the "nickel town" near Korowsk on the Kola Peninsula. Operation of the new plant has increased the production of the area materially.

Severo-Nickel, the firm which was instrumental in the building of Montschegorsk, produces in addition to nickel other valuable minerals including copper, platinum, cobalt and palladixum.

Montschegorsk has a population of 25,000 persons, the majority work in the mine and the electrolytic plant. The site five years ago was barren and the area was seldom visited except by Russian Lapland herdsmen who drove their reindeer into the Lake Pyslstschimjawr area. The town is built on the lake's edge. A few fishermen and trappers visited the lake prior to the discoveries of the Russian geologists in 1932.

Three years after the geologists had reported rich deposits of nickel and copper, General Schdanov, then governor of the region, laid the foundation for an industrial center in the Lake Pyslstchimjawr area.

The Russians have built an electric power and light plant. Public water supply is furnished and there are several hospitals and a radio station already constructed. The town is located at the foot of a 1,000-meter mountain.

A spur of the Murmansk railway via Kirowsk, industrial town in Russian Lapland, has been run into Montschegorsk.

Soviet industrialists have announced they will make the town the world center for nickel production.

Before the Finnish-Russian war the town was 120 kilometers from the Finnish border. Russian peace terms demanded that Montschegorsk be further removed from Finnish territory and the boundary line was pushed an additional 60 kilometers westward in Finland.

Predicts Coming Year Will Bring Unusual Events

BATON ROUGE, La.—(U.P.)—The coming year will be one of the most news worthy in modern history if Dr. Louis Gersham Benjamin's predictions come true.

End of the European war, discovery of a cure-all for the earth's diseases, merger of "the nine great religions," and recognition of a playwright "greater than Shakespeare or any other playwright ever known" are among the events Dr. Benjamin has forecasted.

"The European war will be over in 90 days."

Benjamin did not elaborate on his forecast of "a perfect cure for all disease."

He predicted the playwright "greater than Shakespeare" probably will be Orson Welles.

"Within 12 months," Benjamin said, "the nine great religions of the world will be fused into one at the Bahai Temple in Winnetka, Ill."

Benjamin said the six other religious centers of the world will be in San Francisco, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Los Angeles.

TRENCH SILOS

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—(INS)—Forty thousand trench silos — below - ground - level storage spaces for cattle feed—is what E. R. Eudaly, dairyman with the Texas A. & M. Extension service, expects Texas to have by the end of 1940. Eudaly bases his estimate on the growth in number of trench silos during previous years. In 1931 there were only 18 of them in the state.

JAIL DELAYED

SAYRE, Pa.—(INS)—When judicial action clashes with farm work, Justice of the Peace George D. Bonfoey favors the latter. Two young men were sentenced to three days in jail for traffic violations but the justice delayed the sentences until after the buckwheat harvest.

Puerto Rica To Keep Close Tab On Radio Amateurs.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—(INS)—Radio messages broadcast by amateurs in Puerto Rico will be under close scrutiny by Insular representatives starting this month.

Under a plan authorized by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, a 24-hour "listening" watch will be maintained on radio stations now operating in Puerto Rico. Twelve radio experts have been hired to maintain the vigil.

Puerto Rico has just completed fingerprinting and registering all radio operators on the island.

Stage Presentation.

Sollie Childs' "Femmes 'N Fun" is the stage show to be presented today and Thursday at the Madison. There are eight vaudeville acts and 35 people in the cast, some from radio, stage and screen. The Baron Brothers, knockabout comedians, go through many tricks, and young Kate Smith takes the singing spot with her soprano voice. Miss Howard does sensational acrobatic dances. The film to be shown in connection with the show is "Mexican Spitfire Out West" with Lupe Velez and Leon Errol heading the cast.

Four Stage Acts.

Four big acts will be seen on the stage of the Park theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Fatty Laymon, who has been seen in the Hop-a-long Cassidy series in the movies, and many comedies, is said to be 300 pounds of laughs. Audrey Dennison, acrobatic dancer, has several new variations and Jack Younger, said to be the last surviving member of the famous Younger family of the Jesse James and Younger band of outlaws, will tell of his family history. Joe and Ted Grant are a comedy and musical team. Jack Green plays the accompaniment. On the screen are "Who Is Guilty?" with Ben Lyon and "Prairie Law" with George O'Brien.

Third of Maisie Series.

Most of the action of "Gold Rush Maisie" takes place on the desert, in a ghost town mining camp and at a desert ranch. This is the third in the popular series dealing with the adventures of a stranded show girl, played by Ann Sothern. Lee Bowman plays opposite Miss Sothern in this picture showing at the Ohio through Friday. Slim Summerville adds comedy to the picture which is filled with new experiences for Maisie.

Granny Has Her Gun.

The grand old lady of the screen, May Robson, who can intimidate a desk sergeant in the best "Apple Annie" manner or melt the heart with the sweet expression of Whisler's "Mother" is a two-gun moll now in the picture "Granny Get Your Gun," showing at the Ritz. In this film she takes a one-woman stand against a group of assorted ruffians and gives a small western mining town a brief taste of excitement. Co-feature is "Money and the Woman" with Brenda Marshall and Jeffrey Lynn.

STUNNING BLOW BY ROYAL NAVY FLIERS CLAIMED

British Report Aerial Raid Damages Two Big Italian Warships at Taranto.

In addition, the admiralty stated, the British Mediterranean fleet continued to harass Italy's communications with its armies in Libya.

"On the night of Nov. 9-10," the British announcement said, "a successful bombardment of Sidi Barrani was carried out. Shore batteries returned the fire but our ships sustained no damage and no casualties.

"It is further reported that one of our submarines recently attacked a convoy of two supply ships escorted by a destroyer.

"One heavily laden ship of 3,000 tons was sunk and a second was certainly damaged and probably sunk."

Italy Reports Further Attacks

ROME —(INS)— Enemy bombing planes raided Italy's giant naval base at Taranto and pounded the key Adriatic port of Brindisi, the Fascist high command announced today.

The attack on the naval base, at the head of the Gulf of Taranto between the heel and the toe of the Italian boot, is the second to be carried out in 24 hours.

Brindisi, located on the Straits of Otranto, is one of the principal ports of embarkation for Fascist troop operations in Albania.

The high command reported that other enemy planes dropped bombs on the Fascist-held Albanian port of Durazzo and on Bari. The communique did not state whether the attack was carried out by British or Greek planes.

Churchill Smiles Over Raid News

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, all smiles, read the admiralty communique on the successful British attack against the Italian navy to the cheering House of Commons today and commented that "the result of the action affects decisively the balance of power in the Mediterranean."

Rubbing his hands and beaming, Churchill said, "I feel it my duty to bring this glorious episode to the immediate notice of the house."

He added, "as a result of a determined and highly successful attack which reflects the greatest honor on the fleet air arm, only three of the Italian battleships now remain effective."

Assert Albanian Ports Destroyed

ATHENS, Greece—(U.P.)—British airplanes based in Greece have virtually destroyed the three main ports of Albania, including Durazzo, most modern port on the Adriatic, and have dealt smashing blows to Italian bases and munitions dumps behind the Greek-Italian fighting lines, it was reported officially today.

A communique issued by "the Royal Air Force in Greece" said Durazzo, recently modernized by Italy at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars and the main disembarkation point for Italian troops in the Greek campaign, had been "completely gutted" in a raid Monday.

At Valona, the second largest Albanian port, "all bombs were seen to fall in the target area and what probably was an ammunition dump was seen to blow up," the communique said.

The communique added that "yesterday the dock area of Valona was attacked again with salvoes of bombs falling on jetties, also in the center of a large building. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was not effective and our planes returned safely from all operations."

The third port bombed was Santa Quaranta, whom according to Greek dispatches, has been pounded by the R. A. F. day after day.

Company, Canton, O. About 1,000 gallons of fuel oil burned fiercely and threatened four other tanks for a time. The blast knocked down several employes, but none was injured. It appeared to be accidental.

In Oklahoma, an explosion damaged units of the Phillips Forrester No. 1 oil well under circumstances which the plant foremen said were mysterious. No one was working at the time.

Two men were killed and two others injured when a shipbuilding crane at Sin Francisco's Western Pipe and Steel company capsized.

Fire believed of incendiary origin broke out in a locker room of the Todd dry docks in Seattle shortly after plant officials had begun an investigation of a series of incidents in which machinery had been damaged with emery dust at the dockyards. The fire caused little damage.

Commenting on the chain of explosives plant blasts, Rep. Martin Dies (D-Tex), chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, declared he was dispatching investigators to "every scene of trouble." He said "the acts of sabotage in the past 24 hours are only a beginning," and added that he would ask a congressional appropriation to conduct a nationwide "close-in" on all subversive elements.

Property damage in Racine, Wis., was estimated at $100,000. An estimated 500 trees were felled and from 8,000 to 10,000 damaged in Milwaukee.

Sub-zero temperatures were recorded in the west central and mountain states. Among the low marks of the last 24 hours were: Havre, Mont., 15 below; Cheyenne, Wyo., and Williston, N. D., 12 below.

The Missouri river froze over yesterday at Bismarck, N. D., 16 days ahead of the average date. The mountain regions of Utah were covered by nearly three feet of new snow.

Duck hunters rescued in Minnesota and Wisconsin told harrowing stories of their experiences. Cherished guns, boats, decoys and other equipment were abandoned in the desperate fight for life. One Wisconsin nimrod died in his skiff while two others hunters sat in their boat 30 feet away, powerless to help because their craft was frozen fast in the lake ice. The victim raised bare hands to the skies in supplication, then slumped forward.

of "record length." The consensus of responsible observers was that it would be erroneous to underestimate importance of the visit simply because the usual glittering trappings of Nazi receptions were lacking. Some sources said it would be good tactics for Berlin and Moscow to keep the outside world guessing until projected plans are complete.

It was officially stated that Molotov and Goering had a "long talk in the spirit of friendly Russo-German relations." As commander-in-chief of the Nazi air force, it was said, Goering was in a prime position to inform Molotov of the actual status of this country's attempts to bring England to her knees.

It is a matter of utmost importance, it was said, that Molotov be given a full and comprehensive picture of the war for presentation to Stalin in order to counteract British propaganda alleging that Germany is in difficult straits.

SEEK MORROW VOTE RECOUNT

Five Electors Ask Check on Race For Commissioner, Indicate Errors.

MT. GILEAD—A recount of the vote cast last week for Morrow county commissioners was asked in a petition filed with the Morrow county board of electors Saturday.

The recount was not asked by the defeated incumbents, but by a group of five electors, G. J. Young, Don B. White, Harold Johnstone, Leon McCarty and Judge W. P. Vaughan.

The Republican committee members stated they had reason to believe that numerous errors were made in the commissioners vote count but they were not in any way questioning the honesty of the elections officials.

The unofficial count as reported by Roy Miller, clerk of the board, showed M. C. Griffin and Albert W. Klingel, the Democratic candidates elected with Griffin leading Klingel by 15 votes, Brollier third, 39 behind Klingel and Turner fourth, 92 behind Brollier.

New School for Sulphur Springs Children Sought

BUCYRUS — Crawford county school authorities today were completing arrangements for classroom facilities for 200 pupils at Sulphur Springs consolidated school, east of here. The school was damaged considerably by fire Tuesday.

County School Superintendent Glen C. West said the students probably would attend school at North Robinson or New Washington while repairs are being made to the building. All students escaped injury.

Principal damage was caused to the attic and roof of the two-story brick building, which was built in 1922 at a cost of $100,000.

All contents of the building were removed and are housed in business establishments in Sulphur Springs. The loss, which has not yet been estimated, is covered by insurance.

It was believed by school authorities that the fire was caused by a short circuit.

The blaze was fought for several hours by firemen from Bucyrus, Crestline, Shelby and New Washington.

GETS PROMOTION

BUCYRUS—C. M. Miller, cashier at the state liquor store here, has been promoted to the position of acting manager during the absence of Manager Loren Culver, who is in Texas studying aviation preparatory to obtaining his commercial license and an instructor's rating in the field of aviation. Culver will return to the store manager-ship next month. Carl Orthwein of Galion is acting cashier of the store.

Milk Mixtures For Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lucin from their druggist. Lucin contains this ingredient in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of water. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lucin for sale by Weinberger's and drug stores everywhere.

SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS PLAY

Hayesville High School Cast Gives 'Lady Spitfire' Tomorrow Night.

HAYESVILLE — Thursday night, November 14, at eight o'clock, Hayesville auditorium will be the scene of the annual senior class play. This year the class will present Katharine Kavanaugh's very popular play "Lady Spitfire."

Kay Sutton, an untamed, spoiled, rich girl is sent to Rutherford School for Girls. Enroute to the school, Kay sends the dean a telegram saying that her father is sending her to Europe, then everyone being fooled she plans to elope with Henri. She loses her purse and is stranded when she arrives at the school. The school is in a deplorable state and may have to close if Kay Sutton doesn't bolster it up with her presence. Not knowing who she actually is, two hired boys at the school persuade Kay to impersonate Kay Sutton. This chance to pass herself off as herself appeals to Kay's sense of excitement—so she consents. Needless to say she does a perfect job. Then her irate father appears, and, to teach Kay a lesson, refuses to recognize her and threatens her arrest for writing checks under his daughter's name. There is a grand mix-up before things are finally straightened out.

Kay is played by Ethel Good. Other characters are played by Robert Barr, Richard Armstrong, Louise Hissem, Eileen Crawford, Francis Helbert, Bill Gannon, Wilma Carpenter, Kathryn Mowry, and Richard Tugend.

The usual custom of presenting the senior play in the spring is not being followed this year. Because of the rush of spring and commencement activities, the class decided to present the play at a less busy time.

PEP MEETING OPENS SHELBY MEMBER DRIVE

Red Cross Workers Organize For Annual Roll Call Tuesday Night.

SHELBY — Shelby Red Cross Roll Call workers began their annual canvass today, following an official send-off at the workers' conference last night at First Lutheran church.

Nearly 100 workers, officials of the Red Cross and Richland County Red Cross officers witnessed the program which opened the 1940 campaign.

Goal for this year's Roll Call in the county has been set at 10,500. Of this number, Shelby will furnish nearly one-fourth. Present membership in the county is 10,700.

Instructions and supplies were issued to the workers at the close of the program by Roll Call Chairman Gerald Dennis.

A skit was presented by three members of the Shelby Red Cross council. Written and directed by Mrs. L. N. Hoffman, chapter chairman, the skit was called "Six Easy Lessons on How to Obtain a Red Cross Membership."

Participating in the playlet in addition to Mrs. Hoffman, were Mrs. C. C. Fish and Mrs. Lewis Patterson. The skit was an amusing account of the various difficulties encountered by the Red Cross workers when soliciting and how they could be overcome.

HEAR PRESIDENT OF WITTENBERG

Ashland Rotarians Given Talk on World Tendencies By Dr. R. E. Tulloss.

ASHLAND — "Whither America?" was a subject discussed Tuesday at the Rotary luncheon by Dr. R. E. Tulloss, president of Wittenberg college for the past twenty years and formerly pastor of the First Lutheran church of Mansfield. Harry Hess was chairman.

The speaker discussed the tendency of the times and pointed out some of the dangers that are evident as the result of the utter confusion that exists.

He referred to a prediction of 22 years ago that all countries would sooner or later adopt the democratic form of government and contrasted the present condition with only England and United States of America remaining democracies.

From this contrast he drew the picture of totalitarianism that is possible through the consistent education of children toward that goal.

Reminding his hearers of some of the fundamental principles upon which America is founded he warned against the danger of inflation, the elimination of thrift in the old sense of the word, the pitting of craft against craft, and the breaking up of the two party freedom of thought and action.

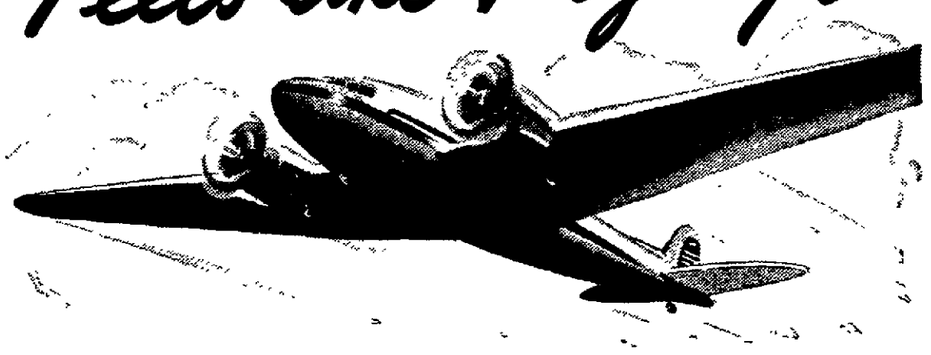
Feels like Flying!



The 1941 Chrysler with Spitfire Engine and Fluid Drive!

LIKE FLYING on a perfect day . . . that's how it feels to ride in a Fluid Drive Chrysler. It's a smooth, swift glide . . . a powerful, shockless take-off . . . a steady, mounting getaway that's not achieved by conventional cars.

Mighty Spitfire engines . . . with multiple-jet carburetors having separate jets for different speeds and needs. A separate Spitfire jet for a Niagara of power when you step on it.

Fluid Drive transmits all this power through a column of oil, instead of rigid connections. One fan-like wheel drives another by forcing oil against it . . . and you control everything with the throttle.

LIKE THE AIRPLANE'S VARIABLE-PITCH PROPELLER

The whole thing is as simple as A B C . . . like the airplane's variable-pitch propeller. The airplane pilot can change the pitch of his propeller for taking off . . . for climbing . . . for cruising. And he can cruise on a fraction of his horsepower. Fluid Drive with Vacamatic transmission does the equivalent of all these things automatically.

Fluid Driving can't be described . . . it must be experienced.

Come in and drive the new Chrysler yourself . . . and learn about dozens of other fine features that only Chrysler can give you.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1940.

According to New Deal philosophy, reaching the debt limit is a sign it's too low.

Among other things difficult for children to understand is why a station wagon seldom goes to the depot.

With so much interest in "an ever normal granary," there's just a chance that some plan will eventually be worked out to assure an ever normal coal bin and an ever normal checking account.

Tax Increase Next In Order

NOW that the election is over and the Rooseveltian theory of unrestrained spending has been sanctioned for four more years, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau immediately suggests another increase in taxes and raising the national debt limit to 60 or 65 billion dollars.

It is quite generally recognized that the defense program will run into staggering figures—with $15,000,000,000 as a nominal starting estimate—and, with a continuance of the New Deal's orgy of spending for "normal" government functions and bureaus, there can be no present hope of either balancing the budget or keeping within the 49-billion debt limit.

While the unpleasant subject of tax increases was naturally reserved for after-election discussion, it is gratifying to note that Secretary Morgenthau is taking a realistic attitude toward the situation by breaking the news that higher taxes will be needed to finance the Roosevelt third term, in addition to the deficit spending that has been going on for the past seven years.

On the basis of majority endorsement of the record thus far made it is unlikely that President Roosevelt will feel obligated to materially reduce the costs of administering government, as has been suggested by tax-paying obstructionists, and the next logical move should be to increase taxes to the extent of financing the next four years of experimentation, as well as meeting a reasonable percentage of defense costs.

There has been an idea in some quarters that an effort should be made to cut out some of the government bureaus and reduce the number of federal employes, so as to help meet defense costs, but any such notion is unlikely to appeal to an administration whose spending policies have been so recently given majority approval.

But if there is to be spending there must also be paying—there should be no more kidding along the line of "We owe it to ourselves."

These are Cooking School Days

CALL it a cooking school, food institute or "Cook's Carnival," there's no doubt about the current forenoon attraction at the Ohio theater being a streamlined version of the long-popular "cooking school" idea.

And, wonder of wonders, husbands are being invited to accompany their wives to these happily combined programs of instruction and entertainment, enlivened by a carnival atmosphere new to such occasions.

When it is considered that so much of domestic felicity, as well as the good health essential to happiness and success, is dependent on the choice and proper preparation of food, the importance of taking advantage of such an opportunity as is now offered can scarcely be overestimated.

Even a glimpse of the new stage kitchen, with its up-to-the minute equipment of range and other modern appliances, justifies a visit to the cooking school—to say nothing of the instruction and demonstrations given by the three food specialists who participate in each of the programs.

So, again tomorrow morning at 9:15 and also Friday morning—your appointment is with the Gasco Food Institute at the Ohio theater—and it will be a good idea to be there early as the doors open at 8:30.

Abundance of Steel and Oil

STEEL and oil, more than any other factors except human courage and intelligence, will win the war. And fortunately the remaining democracies have plenty of both.

Our steel operations early this month have reached an output of 1,460,000 tons a week, and from present indications will soon be at 100 per cent of capacity. There will be a demand for more furnaces. Ore is flowing down the Great Lakes now, from the vast deposits of the Lake Superior region, at a rate which promises 64,000,000 tons for this year, the third largest volume in our industrial history. Next year, from present indications, there will be more ore ships, more cargoes and more production than ever before.

In the nation's various petroleum regions, especially those of Texas, oil is flowing in enormous volume and could be stepped up to any required quantity.

Such facts, and many others belonging with them, should be remembered, along with our patriotism, when Americans happen to feel discouraged about the trend of affairs in a hostile world. It is a reassuring fact that two great democracies, the United States and the British Empire, own and control a preponderance of the world's vital war materials.

Consider the Value of Good Books

THIS [illegible] at the slogan is "Good Books —Good Friends." People who are not given much to reading as [illegible] are urged to consider books at this time. Public libraries will do their part with attractive special displays and all their usual services to readers.

Of course, it is hoped that many persons will not only read a book but will [illegible] a book during the year—even several books. A [illegible] will be [illegible] who give books for Christmas presents.

A good many [illegible] the [illegible] because they think books are [illegible] practical. There [illegible] ease among [illegible] dipping into [illegible] departs without [illegible] happy browser is [illegible]

It may be that [illegible] is possible to read [illegible] less, much wisdom [illegible] between the covers of books, and we can be glad that [illegible] week in our country is not a time set aside for banning and burning books, but for getting better acquainted with them.

Local fans are expressing surprise at how frequently Minnesota wins after having been "outplayed" all through the game.

ENGLAND'S NEW ALLY

War's Effect on Export Business

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If you think the war in Europe isn't rattling the barn door and whistling down the silo of the American farmer and tossing claw-hammers into the cogs of American manufacturers, guess again. While you are guessing, give a few guesses for the boys over at the department of commerce and agriculture as to just what it all is going to sift down to.

This isn't any gloomy picture, but it certainly is confusing. To try to paint the whole of it would take a mural from here to Shanghai. To look at one-tenth of it would be tiresome. But by tossing up a few figures on the United Kingdom alone, I can give you some idea of what is happening.

In the first place, it must be understood that Great Britain is spending gold (which we have more than enough of already) in this country and devoting all its sterling to the provinces. That's a prime point because England doesn't want to spend gold for anything she can get for silver and accounts for some of the teeter-totter in the following recapitulation of pre-war, post-war trade figures.

Cotton Gains, Tobacco Loses.

FOR example, in the 12 months prior to the outbreak of war in 1939, Great Britain bought $29,000,000 worth of cotton from the United States. In the same 12 months after the war started, Great Britain bought $104,000,000 worth of cotton. Fine you say? The cotton farmers, the government and I will agree. But—

In 12 months prior to the war Great Britain took $92,000,000 worth of (unprocessed) tobacco off our hands, but since, in 12 months, has bought only $20,759,000 worth of the weed.

Into the figures of these two products, the whole story can be written . . . with minor variations, of course. Cotton is a war necessity. Tobacco isn't. Aside from that, Great Britain made heavy loans to Turkey. Turkey can pay off in tobacco. Egypt raises tobacco. So why keep buying from the United States and paying out gold for a commodity (no matter what the quality) when that same commodity can be purchased for sterling to one's own provinces or credits to one's own debtors.

That, however, is just a beginning. Lard purchases in this country by Great Britain have declined more than 50 per cent from practically $12,000,000. Ham and shoulders have dropped from $9,000,000 to $3,000,000. But canned salmon purchases have climbed from $5,870,000 to $9,287,000. And canned sardines from a paltry $433,000 to $2,654,000.

Enter Dairy Products.

MORE startling than any of these is the fact that canned milk and cream exports to England, which totaled nothing during the pre-war year, now have climbed for the year to $3,560,000.

These things are not hard to explain. Great Britain is getting its pork and lard elsewhere or doing without it, but the Scandinavian fisheries and the Dutch and Danish dairy markets have disappeared.

Other "wartime" foods are experiencing the same boom. Baked beans (the soldiers' friend) are now going to the British Isles at a thousand per cent more than a year ago ($1,322,000 against $122,000).

Fewer Boards, More Pulp.

BOARDS and planks from the lumber industry have declined about a third in exports, but wood pulp exports have leaped nearly 800 per cent and paper and paper products have jumped from three million dollars to almost 11 million. Machinery and vehicles (other than war machines) have increased more than 40 per cent. Merchant vessels, with not a single sale in the 1939 pre-war year, now are going over to the tune of $14,431,000. Apple sales have dropped from nearly six million dollars to $1,397,000. Oranges from more than two million to $75,000!

There are reasons for all of it and most of them are obvious—the difference between war essentials and non-essentials or between non-bulk products and those so bulky that the cost of shipment makes them prohibitive—but that doesn't help the commerce and agriculture departments or the farmer and manufacturer in trying to figure out what it's all going to sift down to. If you have a plan for turning apples and oranges into sardines and beans, I know a lot of people who will pay money for it.

What to Believe

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT can I believe?" she says. "I want to know the truth about life, but where can I find it?" I read a dozen books. Each writer says something different. They contradict each other. Which one is right—which one shall I believe?"

What can you believe? Believe what you can use. Believe that which seems to belong to you.

You are not like anyone else on earth. You have different needs, different understandings—

You are not even like your own Self—that Self which you were at sixteen, or last year, or even yesterday. You have reached a certain stage of [illegible] development, peculiar to you and your needs today. You alone know what those needs are and you alone can judge what will supply those needs. The facts that will supply another's needs will not supply yours.

The thing which is truth for another man is not truth for you.

That is why his truth will never do you any good—and why your good won't do him any good. It is easy to accept that first fact. It is very hard to accept the second.

Each man must discover his own Truth for himself.

Seek it by living with [illegible] present need—your present understanding.

It will [illegible] you know it when [illegible]

You will know it as you know your own coat, your own shoes—it will fit you. It will [illegible] for you. It will [illegible] to be [illegible]

Seek the words that [illegible] Never mind if they are [illegible] words—so simple that [illegible] laugh at them. If they [illegible] and help you, that's enough. These words are The Truth [illegible] you today.

A nursery rhyme, [illegible] must accept and make part of your mental experience [illegible] for you than terms of [illegible] philosophy which you [illegible] to assimilate.

[illegible] Truth [illegible] Do not try to find a Truth that will last you through your life. Do not feel that you must believe a thing today because you believed it last year . . . or fear to change your ideas and standards lest you seem inconsistent.

Keep on changing! Keep on growing! Keep on demanding new and larger Truths.

For, remember this—there is no one, fixed ultimate standard of Truth.

Truth is like Life — endlessly proceeding—endlessly unfolding. All he who would follow the Truth embarks upon a very complex [illegible] on a very dangerous [illegible]

Truth will certainly raise Cain with your status quo.

What shall you believe?

Believe that which [illegible] can use.

Believe that which [illegible] your needs today. That is Truth for you. Tomorrow [illegible] for a bigger one. And be prepared [illegible]

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Roosevelt-Willkie Feud Continues, FDR Peeved By Campaign Attacks

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Rumors that Wendell Willkie will be offered a cabinet post or chairmanship of the Defense Commission are just rumors and no more. Roosevelt has no intention of unifying along such lines.

After the 1936 campaign, the president and Alf Landon went out of their way to be friendly. The mellow Kansan called at the White House when he went to the capital in December for a Gridiron club dinner, and a year later Roosevelt appointed him a member of the U. S. delegation to the Pan-American conference in Lima. But with Willkie the situation is entirely different.

Roosevelt deeply dislikes and distrusts him—a feeling, incidentally, that is strongly reciprocated by Willkie.

Privately, the president believes that the GOP standard bearer's campaign was motivated chiefly by personal malice and went far out of bounds of legitimate political warring in deliberate misrepresentation and distortion.

On his side, Willkie feels just as hotly regarding Roosevelt. When Rev. John Carruthers, visiting pastor of the Convent First Presbyterian church, Washington, suggested making peace with Roosevelt, Willkie snapped, "I wouldn't think of it. You can't trust him. I refuse to have anything to do with him in any coalition cabinet."

Note: Even if Willkie would accept a job, Roosevelt has fought shy of creating a chairman of the Defense Commission. To all such suggestions he has replied that he was boss of the commission and intended to continue that way.

Merry Go Round.

THE ROOSEVELT campaign wagon came to rest only after some bitter inside circle carnage. Two of the president's closest advisers, Harry Hopkins and Tom Corcoran, are at sword's points. . . . Republicans are wondering whether there isn't something awfully significant about Tom Dewey's majority in up-state New York. It was more than 750,000 in 1938 while Willkie's up-state majority was only 94,000. This, coupled with the fact that Dewey did most of his campaigning for Willkie in the west—not in New York—makes some of the boys wonder whether the young district attorney wasn't just as glad to have Willkie lose. After all, Willkie's defeat leaves Dewey with a far better chance to take the Republican nomination—and election—in 1944. . . . Friends are kidding Henry Wallace about being disqualified for the job of vice president because, unlike Jack Garner, he does not "strike a blow for liberty." After eight years in Washington, Wallace does not drink.

European Appeasement.

THE STORY of imminent European peace deals which floated around London, Berlin and Washington just before election was no myth. Inside fact was that some very, very tentative ideas had been discussed by Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador in Madrid, and a leader of the British appeasement group.

Since November 5 these ideas are dead. But the motives behind them are extremely important. Inasmuch as they may crop up again, here is their background:

Ever since Hitler's proposed invasion of England was frustrated last September, Nazi diplomats have sent out feelers to the effect that Germany now had almost the entire continent of Europe and might be satisfied to drop the war, leaving England to stick to its own islands.

This, of course, would be an excellent set-up for Germany. Economically, she now has some of the wealthiest areas of Europe under her thumb, especially with the penetration of Rumania. Her trading area, under the new rewritten map of Europe, is vast and wealthy. Hitler could well afford to sit tight for the time being and concentrate on the development of these new areas.

Such a peace, of course, meets no response from the great majority of the British people, nor the government, and absolutely none from Winston Churchill. However, it has been received favorably by the little group of "City" men (London's Wall Street) which encouraged the Nazi invasion of Czechoslovakia so they could get Czech factories, and who actually lent money to Hitler after Munich.

Wall Street and Willkie.

THIS GROUP sees British factories blasted, argues that it will take months to rebuild them, and that meanwhile British trade will lose out to the U. S. A. So this group has been encouraging the backstage peace feelers with Berlin, via Spain and Sweden.

Furthermore, all diplomatic reports indicate that had Willkie been elected, this group would have launched a strong drive for appeasement. This does not necessarily mean they would have had Willkie's blessing. But it does mean that Wall Street groups in the United States which think along exactly the same lines as London's "City" were all ready to cooperate in this drive and expected to get support from Willkie.

In fact, some of the wisest wiseacres in the diplomatic corps were cabling their governments just before November 5 that an appeasement peace was certain if Roosevelt were defeated.

Latin American governments, whose weather vane is the United States and who study us with a microscope, actually were getting ready to warm up to Hitler. But since November 5, the effect is just the opposite. Now the diplomats are writing it down as certain that the United States will give increasing help to the British and there will be no appeasement.

Note—However, help to the British will have to be on a much bigger scale than ever. For British shipping losses are mounting far higher than the censors will let the press cables admit.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Stenographers who hesitate to ask a favor of their boss, because of shyness, should profit from the example of Ethel Merman. This dark haired, fetching singer is triumphing on Broadway today in "Panama Hattie," the first time she has been starred alone, all because she asked her boss to go out and get her another job.

Ethel, back in the 20's was a stenographer in a New York City suburb. She spent her evenings performing in amateur shows or wherever else she could get anyone to listen to her. From an artistic standpoint she hasn't an operatic voice, but it is clear, loud, melodious and good to hear. She heard her boss say that he knew a Broadway producer, asked him to ask the producer to put her in his new show. To everybody's amazement, he did.

He gave her a spot in the chorus line. This she refused because she still hadn't resigned her job as a stenographer, which paid more than being a chorus girl. But her boss kept urging her to try the stage, although he never has admitted he did so because he thought she's wasn't a good stenographer.

* * *

SO ETHEL kept on with her amateur performances and finally a talent scout saw her. He whisked her off to Hollywood, whisked her back to Broadway and she has been whisking back and forth ever since until now she achieves solo stardom.

She worked for it, however, and is a 10 times better performer than when she made her debut in a Broadway musical as a pretty girl who could sing and sell a song. That's all she did then—walk on stage, sing a song, and then walk off.

In "Panama Hattie" she is a complete product—sings better than ever, has developed a fine flair for feminine humor, does some splendid acting in her tearful scenes with a little girl and, for the first time, goes in seriously for dancing solos. Step by step she has made good at everything except selling tickets at the box office. She couldn't do that, judging by the raves of the Broadway critics, because the audience wouldn't pass the ticket window.

Ethel, incidentally warbles a song in "Panama Hattie" that promises to be another "Yes, We Have No Bananas." It is "Make Mine an Old Fashioned" in which she sings "Leave out the cherry, leave out the bitters . . . just make it straight rye."

Louis Nizer, a lawyer, is the author of "Thinking on Your Feet." In professional life he is legal representative of Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, and Paramount films. . . . Jimmy Van Heusen's auto horn plays the first three notes of his first song hit, "So Help Me," and so does his doorbell. . . . Van Heusen, and his lyric writing co-partner, Johnny Burke, are currently on the coast and are writing a new musical for the films. Their last was the Jack Benny-Fred Allen film. In case you're interested in the sort of music they write, their hits include "Imagination," "Oh, You Crazy Moon," and "Polka Dots and Moon Beams."

This Is Ohio

THE 307-miles-long Ohio canal from Cleveland to Portsmouth, connecting Lake Erie with the Ohio river, was started July 4, 1825, near Newark.

Governor Clinton of New York turned the first shovelful of earth. The canal was finished in 1838.

Wheat sold for 25 cents a bushel when work started on the canal. When it was finished they were getting $1 a bushel. Prices of other farm products rose in proportion. Many historians link the start of the state's prosperity with that of the canal.

Finds Uncanny Recurrence of "13."

Editor News-Journal:

Now that there is no longer an election campaign to distract us and we can again give more thought to other things, permit me to submit some rather interesting data in connection with an editorial that appeared in a recent edition of The News-Journal under the heading—"The 5 and 8 Bob Up Again."

In two paragraphs of the editorial you state:

"Such a coincidence as that which brought up the 5 and 8 as the last two figures of the first number drawn in both the 1917 and 1940 drafts might easily give the '58' combination a superstitious slant to persons inclined that way."

"But, with thousands of capsules in the bowl, it does seem odd that the '58' part of it should stick through so persistently."

"As the sum of the two digits, 5 and 8, total 13, it is my purpose to call attention to the persistency with which these two particular numerals continue to 'bob up' in the design of the Great Seal of the United States, both sides of which are portrayed on the new type of dollar bill—first issued in 1935.

The obverse side of the seal, with which we are all familiar, depicts an American eagle with wings, tail feathers and talons outspread.

With the aid of a magnifying glass we find that the escutcheon on the breast of the eagle contains 13 stripes, the motto in his beak contains 13 letters, there are 13 arrows in one talon, and the olive branch in the other has 13 leaves and 13 berries in the glory cloud above the eagle's head are 13 stars.

In turning attention to the reverse side of the seal, which, rather oddly, had been designed previously to the side with which we are familiar but had never made its public appearance until this new series of bills came out; we find that there are 13 courses of bricks in the Pyramid; 13 letters in the motto "Annuit Coeptis," and the number of letters on this side of the seal (including the date line at the bottom of the Pyramid) total 39—3 times 13.

If as claimed, the people of America are chiefly descendants of Manasseh of the 13th Tribe of Israel students of symbolism might see in that the key to the significance of the seal's symbols to our people.

However, be that as it may, in delving into American history one cannot help being impressed with the rather uncanny manner in which the mystic 13 again takes the spotlight: The year of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, "76," is composed of two digits which total 13: "July the Fourth" has 13 letters; the national bird, the "American Eagle," also has 13 letters: Washington and twelve of his generals were Freemasons — again 13: there were 13 ships in our first navy; while there were but eleven states in the Southern Confederacy during the Civil war, yet there were 13 stars in their flag—why?

The first expedition to France in the first World war sailed on June 13, 1917, was carried in 13 vessels and took 13 days to cross the Atlantic; Woodrow Wilson, our war president, had 13 letters in his name.

In concluding, the thought strikes me that even The News-Journal unwittingly contributes to the above dizzy array of the mystical numerals—13. The editorial referred to appeared in your issue of Wednesday, Oct. 30. Count the number of letters in "October thirty" and they add up to what?

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Be ready in ten mintues, then," he said, on a great sigh of relief. He looked at Norma, and his face clouded again. "I don't know where we're going," he said, "but we're on our way!"

In 15 minutes they were ready to go. Jocelyn delayed them only long enough to change her gown, and to scribble a note to Philip's mother.

Dear Mrs. Fordyce, we are making a very early start for Sausalito. I've said everything I can to coax you to our wedding, but if you don't come I'll understand. Jocelyn.

Then they were off, making the drive in 40 minutes, separating with whispers in the shabby hall of the Partridge house, when a sleepy Aunt Nell took charge of them.

Jocelyn explained something of the situation to her aunt; to keep the peace with her grandmother, Norma must seemingly arrive on the Matsonia Saturday rather than the Celandaria today. Mrs. Partridge nodded; Norma should be "Norah Smith" for the time being. It had been Jocelyn's thought that the name of "Norah" would save her if she absently called the girl by her own name.

"Jocelyn, how you help me!" Philip said wearily, kissing her good night in the darkness of the porch just before he went away.

"Phil, if you knew how wonderful it is to be able to!" she whispered back.

Then she went quietly upstairs to join Norma in the shabby bare spare room where she and her cousins had done so much laughing and gossiping in happy times gone by. The old house was filled with the feeling of happiness; it had long been soaked and seasoned with it. Not a girl of the radiant six who had grown up here had ever seen so sordid, so ugly a side of life as the little money princess, the world-famous heiress who was sleeping here tonight. None had known such loneliness as she, such sophistication, such hardness.

There was such uproar in the Partridge house on the following morning over the approaching wedding, and over the now certain prospect that Jossy was expecting another baby, that family interests swept over the introduction of Miss Norah Smith like a high tide over a cockleshell. Norma was subdued and pale this morning; wiped breakfast dishes meekly; listened eagerly to the girl's chatter, and now and then, in spite of herself, laughed her deep awkward laugh; the laugh of a girl to whom all this intimate gay sister stuff was new.

"I never saw a girl who knew so little about a kitchen," Jane confided to Jocelyn at one stage of the proceedings. "She's simply darling with babies, but I suppose she's been in an office since high school, and doesn't know anything about housekeeping."

"She's having an awfully good time," Jocelyn said noncommittally.

"She's pretty, isn't she?"

"Yes, I think Nor—ah's pretty."

Norma went with Bam and Peaches to borrow plates from the Ridgways; she went late in the morning to the Jordon's with Jossy to get more flowers. Jocelyn's aunt had determined that the house should be just as pretty for Jocelyn's wedding as it had been for the three earlier weddings. Tots took a lively interest in the proceedings because her own wedding date was now only a couple of weeks ahead.

"Jocelyn," Jane said, when they were all upstairs in an enormous bedroom filled with beds and cribs and couches, and when everyone was stretched out resting after the labors of the morning, "does it make the slightest difference to you that Philip Fordyce is so rich?"

Jocelyn's eyes went instinctively to Norma's, and she felt the color in her face as she laughed. But Sissy, only two months married to a man whose income for years must be somewhere in the neighborhood of $35 or $40 a week, spoke up joyfully:

"Of course it make a difference, doesn't it Jocelyn? I mean—iceboxes and things, and looking at secondhand stoves, and simply feeling ready to die when a tire goes gently 'whoosh!" and lies down on you!"

They all laughed. Jocelyn saw Norma's eyes fixed on Sissy; Sissy, who was so lovely and so happy and so silly, and but six months older than Norma herself.

"We had about $300 to furnish our house, but of course we're doing a lot on installments," Sissy said. "He's got that in his mouth, Jane," she said, of her seven-months-old nephew.

"Rusty's mother is sending up a lot of stuff she has had in storage," Tots said. "But I don't know how good it is. If we take a modern apartment we've no room for a sideboard and a dining-room table."

All so young and gay and innocent with their trials and their joys, Jocelyn reflected, and lying in the midst the girl who was youngest of all except the two school girls, and in whose heart so dark a secret rested. She tried to think ahead to tomorrow, and to what it could possibly bring in the way of a solution to Norma's problem. Would she and Philip take the girl with them when they started off in the car at 5 o'clock?

But she could get no further with that line of thought. She was to meet him in the city at 3 o'clock; he had to spend five minutes in court this afternoon, to resign the guardinaship of a friend's son after some months of responsibility; then he and Jocelyn would wander off to do a little last minute shopping, and finally he would bring her back to her aunt's for dinner, and leave at about 9 o'clock, not to see her again until her wedding day. On that day custom said that the bride should be invisible until the very hour of the ceremony, but Jocelyn knew that they would have to flout custom for once. They would have to leave her aunt's house with Norma at about 11; drive to the docks, wait, with the girl hidden in the car until the big ship was in, and then mingle with the crowds on board and on the deck, be photographed, give their story to the press. Philip had decided to give his mother a strong hint, this Friday night, that the girl might be expected. This would have the effect of bringing Mrs. Fordyce to the arrival, and Norma would go home with her.

"We're safe to leave her with Granny a few days," Philip had said to Jocelyn sadly, "she's not looking for any more mischief at the moment."

She had joined him at the office, amused and thrilled because one or two of the girls who had been her associates there six months ago were ready with congratulations and eager questions about her marriage. Now she and Philip were on their way to court.

"I suppose if she is right, Phil—and of course she may not be—you could persuade this man to marry her?"

"Ouch!" he said. "She need never see him again of course. I'm not able to believe it yet." Philip said, shaking his head as if he shook away some buzzing troublesome insect. "Spotty! Oh, I knew they were all young fools, but somehow I thought she was too smart for that."

"Cocktails, Phil, and excitement, and music and this petting that they all do. I don't know," Jocelyn said, walking along beside him, grave and pretty and concerned. "I don't know where they expect it to lead!"

* * *

"If I could have kept Norma from just this experience!" Philip said. "It seems to me her mother and Sandy might have saved her that!"

"Will you try to make this man marry her?" Jocelyn asked.

"There won't be any question of making him. He'll marry her fast enough! That's what he's after. I can see him," Philip said grimly, "discussing settlements. 'It is the custom in my country —' So we'll give the newspapers plenty of space with Norma's marriage to a prince; we'll pay him what he wants, and then we'll kick him out."

"Phil, I was thinking. If, in the autumn, we had found the place we want, a big ranch with mountains and lakes in it, and if we were building a lodge there, why not have Norma and Agnes—Agnes adores her and perhaps Mattress up there? Let people think that Norma and her governess are traveling."

"Yes, and what would we do with the prince meanwhile?" he asked, wearily despairing. "D'you thing he'd stand for that? No. What he wants is the Riviera, races and roulette and women and showing off how much he was able to get out of the Americans."

"I was thinking, Phil. Why make them marry?"

"Why—?" He looked at her amazed; stopped short in the street. "Why make them marry?" he repeated stupidly.

"Yes. The mischief's done. She hates him and she has good reason to. How does marriage help them? Meanwhile for months, Norma can live with us here in Hill Acres, and in the fall perhaps we'll travel. So we get married tomorrow, Phil, and leave her with your mother. And then in about a week she joins us, and we can plan all the details then. And Prince—what's his name, Orgalzky? is out of it forever."

"I need never see him," Philip said, in deep thankfulness. "You have shown me a way out, Jocelyn. I wonder if you know how wonderful you are? Such a clean, straight-thinking, reasonable party. You're going to be the mother to her that she ought to have had long ago, poor kid. We'll get her out of all this, find out what she's like, under all the nonsense and showing off. If we can slip away tomorrow—in a few months find a place to escape to sometimes—"

MANSFIELD CLUBS HAVE NOVEMBER MEETINGS

Tourist Members Hear Paper on Consumer Movement By Mrs. Redding; Mrs. Remy Gives Book Review at Sorosis.

AS WAS POINTED OUT Sunday, this is a busy week for women in Mansfield and the vicinity, and yesterday's calendar must have left a great many of you breathless and worn by the time you reached bed last night, as never before have there been quite so many events scheduled for a single day. Or at least, so it seems, as we face the task of reporting these activities.

Study club events were up at the top of the list of things to do. Members of the Tourist club were the guests of Mrs. D. C. Cole, 306 Vennum avenue, when Mrs. W. L. Parkinson conducted the session yesterday afternoon and welcomed Mrs. Charles Ray into substitute membership. Mrs. Lester Redding, president of the Mansfield Federation of Women, and Mrs. F. C. Lucas, were guests.

Current news was given by Mrs. Harry Bowers, Mrs. Frank Hartman and Mrs. O. L. Seybold, after which Mrs. Elmer Post introduced Mrs. Redding who spoke on "Consumer Movement." Mrs. Fred Berg spoke on "From Candle to Mazda." The next meeting will be held Nov. 26 at 2:30 p. m. at the Women's Club with Mrs. J. W. Galbraith as hostess.

There were 22 members of the Mansfield Sorosis present at the Women's Club last night for the meeting which was held with Mrs. A. E. Courtney. Mrs. F. M. Remy reviewed "Doctor Hundson's Secret Journal" by Lloyd Douglas, a memorial book which was placed in the public library in memory of Miss Helen Rhodes. Miss Ruth Culbertson then listed 12 current publications, giving brief reviews of each and sketches of the authors.

Among those discussed were "Give Me Liberty" by Erskine, "Schoolmasters of Yesterday" by Kennedy, "A-P," the story of the Associated Press, and "I Saw It Happen In Norway." Familiar quotations were given in answer to roll call.

The next meeting will be held at 2:30 p. m. at the Women's Club Nov. 26 with the Misses Bertha and Sophie Ruess as hostesses. The program will continue the study of Holland.

A program by Mrs. Carl Schwier was presented when Mrs. J. Rexford Small entertained members of the Tuesday Book club at the Women's Club yesterday with a tea. She reviewed "The Strategy of Terror" by Edmund Taylor, Chicago Tribune foreign correspondent, who writes of the propaganda for terror both before and after Munich.

Mrs. Louis Ott gave the book news, and tea was served at a table decorated with bronze chrysanthemums and bronze and orange candles. Mrs. George J. Searle and Mrs. Leo D. Wright poured. The next meeting will be a joint session with the Wednesday Study club Nov. 26 when Mrs. Harold E. Andrews is guest speaker. Hostesses will include Mrs. Donald Black, Mrs. Wesley Carr, Mrs. Alfred Reynolds, and Mrs. Charles Conklin.

Inez Rowlands Has Program at Circle

Mrs. Inez Rowlands was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Bethany Circle of the First Presbyterian church yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. B. Ford, 513 Chevy Chase road. Mrs. Rowlands reviewed Margaret Armstrong's book, "Trelawny."

A Dutch luncheon was served to the 45 members and four guests present at 1 o'clock, and the table was centered by a pair of wooden shoes filled with yellow and blue flowers. Mrs. Harvey B. Bailey was chairman for the day, with Mrs. O. I. Alverson, Mrs. George Bleecker, Mrs. Fred Elder, Mrs. B. F. Haley, Mrs. George Ingram, Mrs. Ralph Lewis, Mrs. J. W. Miller, Mrs. R. K. Potter as her associates.

A Christmas party is being planned for Dec. 10 at the home of Mrs. A. W. Meihack on Park avenue west. Mrs. Carl O. Russell will be chairman of the serving committee at that time.

Sorority Members Entertain Four

Members of Chi Sigma sorority entertained four guests with a "backwards" party yesterday evening at the Colonial Guest House on the Wooster road. Miss Jane Weuthrick, Miss Miriam Bean, Miss Marguerite Speas and Mrs. John Hall were the guests.

Everyone in attendance was dressed backwards, and Miss Grace Ladd won a prize for the best costume. A variety of bridge games was played at seven tables during the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. Arthur Knight, Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller and Mrs. Hall.

White candles and pink pompons decorated the small tables when luncheon was served. Mrs. John Courtney was chairman of the arrangement committee, assisted by Mrs. Donald Frampton, the Misses Mary Garver, Jane Cunningham, Dorothy Crawford and Betty Hammel. There will be a business meeting for members at the Mansfield-Leland hotel next Tuesday evening.

Pilgrim Guild Has Regular Luncheon

Chrysanthemums in variegated shades decorated the library and the long tables at which luncheon was served yesterday when 46 members of the Pilgrim guild of the First Congregational church met. Mrs. F. J. Schuster was general chairman for the luncheon. She was assisted by Mrs. Paul Stephens, Mrs. C. C. Warner, Mrs. W. W. Stark, Mrs. H. M. Spandau, Mrs. H. B. Soulen, Mrs. Donald Black, Mrs. Eugene Smart, Mrs. J. R. Small and Mrs. M. V. Scouten.

Mrs. H. H. Clingan, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Bruce Rogers who sang "Thank God for a Garden" by DelReigo and "Take Joy Home" by Karolyn Wells Bassett. WITH each passing day the downtown stores add Christmas gift suggestions to their shelves and display counters, and all of the items are so attractive that it's easy and inviting to shop early and avoid the holiday rush. . . . Rhinestone sets combining bracelet, earrings and pin, are pretty with sapphire and crystal, aquamarine and crystal, pink and crystal or all crystal stones mounted in rohdium.

In the line of costume jewelry novelties there are any number of clever little gadgets designed by Martha Sleeper, the Hollywood actress. . . . For instance, there are two colorful flying ducks on a brown wooden plaque . . . two blue bunnies peeking over a log . . . and a maroon owl resting in the crotch of a tree. . . . Pins made of twists of leather braid are different when topped by metal horse heads. . . . A cute new necklace features real pine cones on a green suede cord.

Then there are bonnettes (dainty demi-johns in molded, colored containers) of these colognes for gifts that are a bit different. . . . A trio of these bonbonnettes (in a little smaller size) is packaged in a gold and cellophane box, lined with satin and tied with gold cord, and the scents are "Blue Carnation," "Fleurs d'Amour" and "Night of Delight."

FORMER RESIDENT, SHELBY GIRL WEDDED

United Brethren Church In Neighboring City Scene of Evening Nuptials; Miss Lynch, Mr. Smith Exchange Vows.

OF interest to Mansfielders was the wedding of Miss Mabel Lynch and Clifton W. Smith at the United Brethren church in Shelby yesterday evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lynch, who reside north of Shelby, and Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Smith, Rowland avenue.

Rev. John C. Searle performed the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock before the church altar, which was decorated with palms, ferns and two baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons and lighted by two seven-branched candelabra. Mrs. Don Ensel of Plymouth presided at the organ playing Nevin's "Venitian Love Song," "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "At Dawning" by Cadman. Mrs. Henry Betts sang "Because" by d'Hardlot and DeKoven's "Oh Promise Me."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, shirred bodice and long train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a front-style bouquet of gardenias and swansonia made with garlands of the same flowers extending down the front of her gown.

Mrs. Howard Guerin served as her sister's matron-of-honor, and she wore a floor-length gown of Spanish rose taffeta, trimmed with bows of wine and aqua velvet. She wore a matching velvet hat and carried a bouquet of Briarcliff roses and pompons, made in the same style as the bride's. Two of the bride's nieces, Kathleen Workman and Peggy Miller, were flower girls, and they wore dresses of light blue and rose-beige taffeta. Their hats were of matching velvet with streamers, and they carried floral baskets tied with bows.

Mr. Smith chose his brother, William, to be his best man. Ushers were the bride's twin brother, Milton, Kenneth Meyer and Junior Gremeal, the latter being from Canal Winchester.

The bride's mother wore a wine velvet dress with navy accessories and corsage of Briarcliffe roses and white pompons, while Mrs. Smith appeared in a mist blue crepe dress with navy accessories and corsage of Talisman roses and yellow pompons.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. There were 50 relatives and friends in attendance, and the refreshment table was decorated with white pompon chrysanthemums, lighted tapers and a two-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith now are taking a wedding trip through the mid-western states, and after Nov. 28 will reside at 37 South Gamble street in Shelby. For traveling the bride wore a Windsor blue dress with dubonnet accessories, a black skunk jacket and shoulder corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Shelby high school and an employe of the Shelby Cycle company. Mr. Smith was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the University of Cincinnati. He is the assistant funeral director and an embalmer at the Sutter Furniture and Undertaking company in Shelby.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Of course I got hold of Carolyn," Lillian replied, and I realized that her voice threatened to break into uncontrollable sobbing. "And, Madge, she told me that Marion had told her she had to come home suddenly, that something had happened she couldn't explain, and had cautioned her to tell the college authorities only that she had had to go home suddenly, and probably had forgotten to sign out."

Down deep in my consciousness, a little bell rang warningly. Something in this message repeated from Marion's "roomie" held a false note. But before I could make the comment, even if I had decided it were wise, Lillian's voice came again, this time on a high note of unmistakable hysteria.

"Oh! Madge do you suppose she has been kidnaped? Do we have to go through that awful experience again?"

"No," I fairly shouted into the phone. "Who on earth would kidnap her? She's not a child, and you're not rich enough to give up an attractive ransom. But listen to me carefully. Where are you, and where is Harry?"

"I'm at the apartment, and Harry is out of town on a trip for Phil. I've been trying to get hold of him, but he won't be in any place where I can catch him until late tonight. I suppose I ought to report it to the police, but you know what would happen if the papers got hold of it. I am simply frantic, Madge."

"I know," I said, tenderly. "Now if I promise to start immediately for the city with Dicky, will you take a sedative and lie down and try to get some sleep?"

"Sleep!" she said with poignant anguish investing the scorn in her voice. "I'll never sleep again until I know where my baby is."

I promptly abandoned that line of attack and substituted another. "Will you promise then not to leave the apartment until I get there?"

"Of course," she answered, and added drearily: "Where would I go?"

"Dicky and I will be with you in about three hours," I promised her, and did not add any banal and infuriating assurances that everything would be all right.

I hung up the receiver and faced Dicky.

"Spill the dirt quickly," he said, and when I had finished telling him everything Lillian had said, together with a quick resume of Helena's letter, his face was very grave.

"Not so good," he said, and he nodded briskly:—

"We'll be starting back at once. I take it. Now how can I help? I am at your command."

"First, tell Katie to put a snack for us on the dining room table in ten minutes," I said. "Hot coffee, and something else hot and filling. We'll need it before we next get a chance to eat, I'm afraid."

"Right you are," he commented. "And after Katie, what?"

"Then ask Katherine to come to me here. I have some telephoning to do which will keep me busy until she gets here. Then get hold of your mother, and explain everything to her—don't keep anything back — it will make her excuse your dashing right back after coming down today. But, after all, you did expect to go back, didn't you?"

"Yes, and to bring you with me," he answered promptly. "I've never heard Lil so upset before. She usually can face hell and high water without changing a muscle of her face."

"Suppose it were Faith," I said, and he started violently.

"Don't say it, even as a supposition," he said with a shudder, and then he turned away toward the kitchen stairs to bring Katie's message to her, while I turned to my telephone index of the numbers I use most.

"Whitlock, nurse," I read — I never charge my memory with numbers that I can keep handy on a written list — and taking down the receiver, gave the number to the operator with a silent prayer that the nurse would not be on a case.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Nov. 14.

Industry, application, patience and perseverence may combine to make this a day for putting the fortunes and the security of life on a stable basis, according to the lunar and mutual configurations of the solidifying planets. With diligence and sound plans there is promise of an enduring growth of position and possessions, with increased values in real and personal property.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy the assurance of a year in which much solid and enduring progress may be made in all earnest efforts to place the life, its position, influence, and fortunes on a stable basis. There should be solidity and increase of investments and property and also the finer aspirations and contacts should be crystallized.

A child born on this day should be diligent, hard working and have sane and practical ambitions although the finer aspirations, sentiments and emotions will play a definite part in framing a progressive, happy and worthy life.

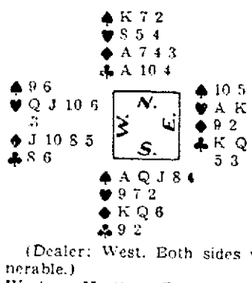
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

ENDLESS VARIETY

MUCH OF the charm of bridge comes from the fact that you never can be quite sure just what is going to happen next. No sooner does an advanced student begin to think he has heard of all the kinds of plays possible in a deck of cards, than along comes a new variation, different from anything he ever encountered in one respect or another. This is especially true of squeezes and lead-throwing end-plays, which occur in all sorts of variegated patterns.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	1 ♠
Pass	1 NT	2 ♣	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

West should not have been, but nevertheless was, scared away from leading his partner's club suit by North's No Trump bid. He instead offered the heart Q. East won with the A and took the K also before starting his club suit with the K. After taking this with dummy's A, South ran three rounds of spades and his own two honors in diamonds, then played a fourth spade.

Next came the crucial play. He led his club 9 to East's J. At this stage, East was clearly out of spades and hearts. If he had a diamond left, that suit would have to break to make the contract. If he had nothing left but clubs, the return of them would constitute the execution of a beautiful squeeze. The latter is what occurred. When East played a club back, South ruffed it, and West was on the spot.

Poor West had been obliged to hold his heart J to guard South's 9, and two diamonds to keep the dummy from having two winning diamonds. But now he had to discard. If he chose a diamond, South could lead his 6 to the dummy for the last two tricks. He actually tossed the heart J, which was just as bad. The heart 9 and diamond A then took the last two tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If West doubles South's 7-Spades on this deal and then leads the club Q, how should South play his trump combination as the best chance of preventing a loser in the suit?

NAMED TO COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Viola Baker and Mrs. Elmira Caughterty were named chairmen of the social committee of the Delano auxiliary last evening during a meeting of that organization at Delano hall. Mrs. Willa Shay was in charge of the routine business, and Mrs. Alva Harnly, welfare chairman, gave a report. Refreshments were served at the close of a social hour. The next meeting will be on Nov. 26 at the hall.

A Million Dollars to Relieve Piles

It is estimated that over a million dollars annually is spent for various remedies for relieving piles. Peterson's Ointment stops itching promptly, brings joyful relief. Money back if not delighted.

There were 47 relatives of the couple in attendance, and dinner was served at three long tables, decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. During a social evening, Mr. and Mrs. Stehle received many gifts.

They have 25 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Legion Auxiliary Has Routine Meeting

Mrs. Samuel Harkins was in charge of the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary last evening at the Legion home. At this time, reports were given by the child welfare and rehibilitation committees, and Mrs. Harkins and Mrs. V. G. Castor, who attended a recent fall conference in Crestline. The group also voted to make a contribution to the Red Cross.

There will be a meeting of the Mothers club on Nov. 28 at the home, when sewing will be done for the Red Cross. The Junior club will meet from 4 until 5 o'clock on Nov. 25, and the next regular auxiliary meeting also will be on the 25th.

POLICE PISTOL RANGE TO OPEN IN TWO WEEKS

Brotherhood Completing New Course For Target Matches West of Mansfield.

Something new in the way of pistol ranges will be opened to law enforcement officers throughout the state within the next two weeks by the Ohio Brotherhood of Police officers.

Finishing touches are being put on a practical police pistol course, the first of its kind in Ohio, and it is expected to be ready for use by Nov. 15.

Constructed under F. B. I. specifications, the new course is located four miles west of Mansfield just north of U. S. route 30 on the Jacob Wolfe farm.

On the one-acre tract, leased by the brotherhood for 10 years, is located a twin course, consisting of dual targets, a club house, sanitary units and flag pole.

The clubhouse is a two-story building 14-foot square and will be furnished and heated. Mansfield police expect to move their range equipment into the building and continue target practice during the winter when snow is not on the ground.

Detective Lee J. Remy, president of the state organization, said the courses had been constructed for the purpose of providing police officers with a practical course over which to shoot.

It is built similar to the one used by the F. B. I. at Quantico, Va., and consists of barricades and mats for hip and run shooting.

Remy said the brotherhood hopes to conduct its annual state pistol tournament over the courses next summer.

Four Women Have Served In County Drives Up to 22 Years.

If the Red Cross issued gold service stripes for workers who have served in the Roll Call army for 10 years or more there would be four of this year's "privates" who would be wearing them.

Four women in the county setup have worked on Roll Call every year for more than 10 years, and two of them have served 22 years each.

Mrs. Logan McCullough, of Butler, and Mrs. Cora Kirkpatrick, who lives just over the Richland county line in Knox county, but who still claims the former as her home, were workers in the first Red Cross membership drive in Richland county. That was in 1916. Since then both women have worked every year, with the exception of one year. Mrs. McCullough doesn't remember why she took that one year out but Mrs. Kirkpatrick was suffering from a broken foot at Roll Call time.

Mrs. W. F. Beam, Cook road, has worked for 12 consecutive years soliciting memberships on Cook road east of Main street road and Woodville road. This is her 13th year in the same district.

Mrs. B. J. Elliott has worked for more than ten years in her home precinct in Springfield township and has the same district again this year.

These workers have come to know the real friends of the Red Cross in their districts.

"Sometimes the work is pleasant and interesting and we've come to accept it as an annual duty for one of the most worth while organizations in the world," they agreed, "although there are years when we wish we could stay home especially when the weather is very bad."

Red Cross Roll Call workers vary in numbers from 500 to 700 a year and each one gives about a week of afternoons to the drive.

More than 500 are working this year, striving to top the minimum goal of 10,500 members.

COURT RECEIPTS SHOW DECLINE

Collections Total $2,600 For October, Decrease of $200 From Previous Month.

Municipal court receipts totaling $2,600 in October, dropped off nearly $200 from the September revenues, the monthly report of collections prepared by Miss Isabel Gerstenmeyer, deputy clerk, disclosed today.

Major portion of the decrease was shown in the civil branch, October collections totalling $285 as compared to $139 in the month previous.

State highway patrol cases also showed a slight decline and fines and costs in city cases and traffic forfeitures were down.

From the total receipts, the city general fund will be increased by $2,181 while $415 will be distributed to the state, county and law library.

The city's share was derived from $1,899 collected as fines, costs and forfeitures in criminal cases and $285 collected as costs in civil cases.

Fines and costs collected in city criminal cases totaled $597; traffic forfeitures, $573; city's share of state highway patrol cases, $235; forfeitures in criminal cases, $203, and costs payable to the city in state cases, $289.

BOHEMIAN BRAID

½ recipe Roll Dough — ¼ C. Chopped Nuts — Confectioner's Sugar Icing

When Roll Dough is light, divide into 9 portions. Roll each portion into a long roll. Put 4 rolls together loosely in braid fashion and place on greased baking sheet. Then braid 3 portions and place on top of first braid. Twist last 2 portions together and place on top, tucking ends under. Cover, and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees to 375 degrees 40 to 45 minutes. Brush with confectioner's sugar icing, sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes 1 large braided loaf.

CONFECTIONER'S SUGAR ICING

2 Tbsp. milk — ¼ tsp. vanilla — ¼ C. confectioner's sugar

Blend milk with sugar until icing is soft enough to spread easily. Add vanilla.

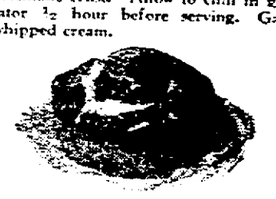
CHERRY PIE

Pie Crust:
4 C. corn flakes — ¼ C. sugar
½ C. melted butter

Roll 4 C. corn flakes with a rolling pin until finely crushed. To 1 C. of these, add melted butter and sugar. Use to line the bottom and sides of 8-inch pie tin. Bake for 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Chill thoroughly.

Filling:
1 No. 2 can sour cherries, drained
½ C. cherry juice — 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
1½ Tbsp. water — ½ C. sugar

Pour cherries and juice into saucepan, add sugar and bring to boiling point. Mix cornstarch with water and add to cherries. Cook until it thickens. Chill thoroughly then pour into cornflake crust. Allow to chill in gas refrigerator ½ hour before serving. Garnish with whipped cream.



HONEY TWIST

Form sweet dough into a long roll about 1 inch in diameter. Coil the roll into a greased cake pan, beginning at the outside edge and covering the bottom. Brush with Honey Topping. Let rise until double in bulk and bake in moderate oven 375 degrees, 25 to 30 minutes.

HONEY TOPPING

½ C. butter — ½ C. confectioner's sugar — 1 egg white — 2 Tbsp. honey, warmed

Cream all ingredients together and brush over twist before baking.
